Cervera's fleet had scarcely entered Sandago harbor until it was discovered by colonel Allen. He immediately announced the fact to General Greeley, chief of the signal service, who at once communicated it to the war office, with the assurance that Allen was an officer of rare discretion and could be relied on implicitly. As soon as it could be done Admiral Sampson, then at sea, was advised of the information given by Colonel Allen, but full credence was not given to his report, for Sampson was merey directed to ascertain positively if the panish fleet was in the harbor. Admiral schley was firmly of opinion that the hosthe fleet ran at Cienfuegos, and it was only after San pson had secured the positive evidence of the presence of Cervera that Schley obeyed the order to leave Cienfuegos and move to Santiago. General Allen has the reputation of being one of the most accomplished officers in the army. He stood high in the classes at West Point, and he has occupied responsible positions ever since.

be straightened quickly. I have not the slightest idea what has brought about the suspension. It is a great surprise to me."

THE HEATH BROTHERS. Their Financial Operations Have Hitherto Been Very Successful.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, June 27.-The suspension of the Seventh National Bank of New York, for the past two years popularly known as "the Heath Bank," aroused nearly as much interest here, where Perry Heath is so well known, as in New York. Beside Perry, his brothers Fred and Fletcher were interested as stockholders, the latter being also vice president. All three started from Muncie, where they still reside and vote. Fletcher, when sixteen or seventeen years old, entered a bank at Oxford, O., and has been engaged in the banking business ever since. He was an apt pupil, and soon came to be known as a financier of uncommon shrewdness. In a few years he was not only at the head of the Oxford bank, but of a larger one at Hamilton, O. There he became interested in tobacco through former Congressman Sorg. Out of this interest grew, eventually, the Continental Tobacco Company, usually called the plug tobacco trust. In these and numerous other financial operations Fletcher was assisted by Fred and Perry. They also formed valuable connections in Boston, which enabled them to carry out many profitable schemes. The Continental Tobacco Company was their greatest and most profitable financial feat. Fletcher Heath labored on this for two or three years before success finally crowned his efforts. Ranking now as capitalists, and able to operate upon a large scale, they, in conjunction with Josiah Quincy, of Boston, and other associates, bought control in May, 1899, of the bank whose doors were closed this morning. Perry Heath is in Salt Lake, whither he went on his return recently from Europe. He has a legion of friends here who hope the difficulties of the bank will be shortly arranged and business resumed. Controller Dawes said to-day he thought the trouble would be composed, but that in advance of a report from the receiver nothing definite could be stated.

The Heaths Not Liable to Be Personally Affected by the Failure.

LARGE INTERESTS IN MUNCIE.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MUNCIE, Ind., June 27 .- News of the Fletcher S. Heath, vice president, this morning wired his two brothers, Cyrus R. and Fred W., and his parents to the effect that the closing of the bank would in nowise affect him or his brother, Perry S the action in closing the doors was decided upon because of unexpected differences resume with the financial standing of the stockholders in no wise affected. Fletcher and Perry Heath, like the other stockholders, have large property interests outside of the bank, the former at Hamilton, O., and Muncie, while Perry S. Heath owns Kinley for the purpose of asking him to real estate in Muncie valued at more than told the membership of the board. The $100,000, having two of the best business properties in the city. Both are part owners of the Muncie Morning and Weekly and preservation of Harewood, comprising News, Muncie's oldest newspaper, and they are interested in Muncie banking houses Perry S. Heath is now in Salt Lake City looking after large railroad interests and is expected here in a few days. His brother, Cyrus R. Heath, left for New of Gen. George Washington and his brothinterested in several water works and the possession of John Augustin Washing natural and artificial gas plants in Indiana and Kentucky, his brothers probably being interested also. The Heaths are known here to be very wealthy, and there is no fear that the New York trouble will affect them seriously no matter what the general outcome may be

When Mr. Byrne was seen late this afternoon he was asked: "Are Marquand & Co. likely to be seriously injured by their large holdings in the P., S. & N. R. R., and in case of their difficulty by reason of this is there any loss likely to result to the bond

Mr. Byrne said he could not see how any loss could possibly occur. "The road," he added, "passes through an old section of country having a large population. In addition to this, large manufacturing industries are on its line of road. The road also owns and controls 35,000 acres of choice coal lands, from which coal is being taken from thirteen colleries, producing about 3,500 tons of coal a day. Six new mines will be completed this autumn, and by next year the producing capacity will reach 8,000 tons a day. The railroad has been built in firstclass manner with eighty-five-pound steel rails, is well equipped, having 2,500 coal and other freight cars in addition to its passenger equipment. The property cost about $6,000,000, all of which it is abundantly able to take care of, and is worth at least "The property is not for sale," Mr. Byrne "Large silent interests in the property, united with abundant capital, ready to take it from Marquand & Co. and continue the development and complete the most valuable links in the Gould system. In view of that success, the present house of Marquand & Co. was certainly justified in taking up a very much more promising property. An Evening Journal Misstatement. NEW YORK, June 27.-The Evening Journal, in its issue marked "Night Special." to-day prints this statement in connection with the Seventh National Bank affair, thus:

President McKinley Urged to Assist in

'a Patriotic Enterprise. WASHINGTON, June 27 .- Mr. Edward Fairfax Naulty, of Philadelphia, representing the board of regents of the Washington Manor Association, had an interview by appointment to-day with President Mcjoin the membership of the board. The object of the association is the purchase a mansion and grounds of 263 acres, situated in West Virginia, about twelve miles from Harper's Ferry. The mansion was built in 1752-56 under the superintendency York this afternoon. This gentleman is er, Col. Samuel Washington. It is now in ton, a lineal descendant of Samuel Washington. James and Dolly Madison were married in the house in 1794, and Louis Philippe, afterward King of France, and a son of the Marquis Lafayette were sheltered there at various times. George Washington also spent his summers there. Pres ident McKinley showed much interest in the project and wished it success. He promised to take the question of membership in the board under consideration, and the understanding is that his reply will be favorable. The objects of the association, Mr. Naulty says, are entirely partiotic An effort will be made to secure the place. The purchase price, $130,000, will be raised

Sailors Lowered Into the Water to Fight a Fire on a Mule Transport. NEW ORLEANS, La., June 27.-The British mule transoprt Monterey, from Cape Town, has arrived in port after a terrible experience with fire at sea. Twelve days out from St. Vincent flames were discovered in the afterhold and gained such headway that the heat prevented the usual means of extinguishing fire on shipboard. Flames and clouds of smoke poured out from the hold and when the officers and crew were about to abandon hope, First Officer Reid and Fourth Officer Harrison volunteered a daring plan. They proposed to tie wire cables around their bodies and have their companions lower them down the side of the ship until they were abreast the port openings into the burning section. It was a desperate expedient, but, after a short consultation, was adopted. As the fire was near the water line Reid and Harrison were lowered down until they were submerged in the sea nearly up to their waists. Hanging thus half buried in the waves, with the ship under headway, the men battered in the port. A hose was then lowered to them, and for several hours they hung, swinging outward and inward, pouring a stream into the blazing hold. In this way they finally checked the flames. The vessel is badly damaged.
